

Plain no more

To That

The Pantagraph/MAUREEN O'CONNOR

This 43-year-old DC-3 airliner, which was purchased and restored by the Twin City-based Prairie Aviation Museum, returned to Bloomington from St. Louis yesterday piloted by Bill Leff of Lexington, left, and co-piloted by George Carpenter, right, of St. Louis. The plane had been in St. Louis on loan to Ozark Airlines, which displayed it during its 35th anniversary. The airline also painted the ship, completing its transformation from "Miss Moss Back," the nickname first ascribed to the plane, to "The Grand Old Lady." Please see story on page A3.
